- English, Maths and Science set one homework per week. All other subjects set one homework per two week cycle.
- D&T and ICT form part of a rotation and the day the homework is set for ICT will change depending on where you are in the rotation. ICT will set homework once in a two week cycle. D&T set an extended project per specialist subject, there are five of these over the year, each one lasting 7-8 weeks. Students are expected to spend at least 4 hours completing each set project.
- French and German have two homeworks a week as they set shorter learning homeworks rather than one long one.
- Visual Arts homework will set an average of three homeworks per term. The homeworks will be more sustained, with the focus being; to reiterate practical skills learnt in class and promote student independence encouraged throughout the department. Students will be given an A5 sketchbook to record their homeworks.
- Performing Arts homeworks (Music, Dance and Drama) may well take forms other than written homework and may take the form of preparation for practical lessons. They may also be set as projects over a longer period of time
- Most subjects will set a variety of different kinds of homeworks e.g. reading, writing, research, practice and some longer project style work. Some subjects will set homework to be completed online. PE set feedback or flipped learning questions on Edmodo based around WWW (What Went Well) and EBI (Even better if ...).
