Nacoa are pleased to present a fascinating talk

"The neurochemistry of alcohol and the experience of the science"

by Dr Peter Taberner, Forensic Scientist and formerly Senior Lecturer in Pharmacology, University of Bristol

Friday, 5 October 2018 at 18.00.

The presentation will be held in Bristol at the Nacoa HQ (venue details will be emailed upon receipt of RSVP) and will commence at 18:00 to 18:45 followed by 30 minutes for a Q&A session.

Please arrive 15 minutes beforehand so that the presentation may commence at 18.00 prompt.

For anybody interested in volunteering with Nacoa as a helpline counsellor or speaker this talk will also count towards any Nacoa helpline training in the future.

If you are interested in volunteering then pop along at 17.30 to visit the Nacoa HQ where you can put forward any questions prior to the presentation.

Please RSVP direct to admin@nacoa.org.uk or telephone 0117 924 8005.
